

SYMPHONY OF THE EARTH

In nature's grand stage, a symphony unfolds,
A harmonious dance, where wonders behold. The environment's tale, both fragile and strong,
A precious melody, we must prolong.

The sun's golden rays, a warm embrace,
Nurturing life with its gentle grace.
The moon's soft glow, a calming hue,
Guiding creatures as darkness ensues.

Whispers of the wind, a gentle breeze,
Carrying seeds to plant new trees.
The rivers' flow, a soothing sound,
Life's sacred source, profound and profound.

Mountains stand tall, guardians of the land,
A testament to nature's firm hand.
In lush green forests, secrets reside,
Biodiversity thrives, side by side.

Oceans vast and deep, teeming with life,
A treasure trove, free from strife.
Coral reefs, an artist's delight,
In vibrant colors, they unite.

But in this symphony, a somber note,
Human actions, we can't remote.
Pollution's dirge, a solemn cry,
Threatens the balance, we can't deny.

Let us rise as one, take a stand,
Protect the earth, its beauty so grand.
For in the symphony of the environment's song,
We find our place, where we belong.
